
Larson Gross welcomes Blume Keeney team, expanding presence in Snohomish County

BELLINGHAM, WA • October 23, 2026 — Larson Gross, a Washington-based accounting and advisory firm, is pleased to announce that the Blume Keeney team has partnered with Larson Gross effective September 15, 2026.

The Blume Keeney team, based in Everett, brings deep experience and a strong reputation for personalized, relationship-driven client service. The move reflects Larson Gross's continued commitment to thoughtful growth that enhances service quality, expands access to specialized expertise and aligns with the firm's client-first philosophy.

"We are thrilled to welcome the talented team at Blume Keeney to Larson Gross," said Kelli Visser, CEO of Larson Gross. "It has been such a pleasure getting to know their team and seeing how closely our approach to client service aligns. Both firms have built their reputations around strong relationships, trust and supporting clients as their needs evolve."

Building on a strong foundation

The professionals joining from Blume Keeney will continue to serve clients in downtown Everett with the same personalized attention and care they are known for, now with access to expanded resources and specialized expertise through Larson Gross while the team transitions to the Larson Gross brand.

The addition strengthens Larson Gross's presence in Snohomish County and the greater Puget Sound region, allowing the firm to serve more clients locally while continuing its approach to growth centered on bringing together teams with complementary expertise, strong community ties and shared values.

"Our goal is to build on what Blume Keeney has already created," Visser said. "We have an opportunity to bring the strengths of both teams together, create even more resources for our clients and continue investing in the communities we serve."
